Cabinet ministers tour Elk Point

Irene Magnusson

The planned tour by Cabinet Ministers from the Alberta Government to Elk Point last Thursday went off without a hitch, occupying little more than half an hour, as the group saw a number of facilities and sites which have benefitted from government assistance, past and present. Mayor Bruce Kleeberger and Town Administrator Ken Kendall accompanied the government officials as the tour was conducted in the Elks Community Van.

The Honorable Shirley McClellan, Associate Minister of Agriculture, the Honorable Ken Kowalski, Minister of Public Works, Supply and Services and Minister Responsible for Lotteries, and the Honorable Ray Speaker, Minister of Municipal Affairs and Minister Responsible for Housing, were in Elk Point on August 1, 1991 for the tour of sites into which the Ministries represented had had some input.

The extensive list included the former Alberta Mortgage and Housing Land Bank; the proposed headquarters site of the Northern Lights Library System, the Agricultural Society Fair Grounds, the Town Shop, the new Seniors Centre, the Fire Hall, the Elk Point Public Library, Mural Park, Heritage Lodge, Elk Point Municipal Hospital, the Raw Water Pumping Program location, the Water Treatment Plant, Recreation Land with golf course, campground and ball park, Buckingham House, the new tennis courts, A. G. Ross Arena extension, expanded Elementary School and its new playground equipment, and the proposed site of the new Community Services Building. All facilities were viewed from the outside only, as time allowed.

The ministers were quite happy with the tour and were impressed with the extent of the facilities the town now boasts.

In addition, the group stopped at the Tourist Booth, and signed in, receiving literature, pins and a cheerful smile from Marnie McCowan.

The Hon. Shirley McClellan met with Historical Society members and Agricultural Society members, enjoying a bit of "mainstreeting" after the motor tour, accompanied by Millie Orr and Donna Dahmer.

The Hon. Ken Kowalski talked with members of the Pioneer Circle and the Hospital Board, while the Hon. Ray Speaker met with Town Council, a representative of the Heritage Lodge Board and the Town Administrator.

This very busy afternoon was topped off by a barbecue in honor of the distinguished guests, hosted by the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce and the Town, and served up by a number of Ladies of the Royal Purple. The utterly delicious buffalo burgers and sausage were ably sizzled on a number of charcoal grills and served with trimmings to around one hundred appreciative persons.

MLA John Drobot, who 'chipped in' the buffalo meat, was on hand to enjoy it all. Sid Holthe introduced the group, with one of the ministers speaking for a few minutes in greeting and praise of Elk Point and its accomplishments, and on the government's involvement.

The barbecue was held on the grounds just west of the Elk Point Curling Club, in full view of Mural Park. The wind was a bit chilly, but the clouds stayed back and allowed a good time to be had by all.

Tourist booth sees action

Irene Magnusson

Marnie McCowan is no stranger in the town of Elk Point, having served in various social work capacities, this summer 1991 at the Tourist Information Booth, right on the busiest corner of town, where Highway 41 and Main Street intersect.

We are all familiar with the Tourist Information Booth, and probably have dropped in for a map or two, or other information now and then. But perhaps few of us realize just what a busy summer spot this is.

Marnie opened the booth a bit earlier than usual this summer, on May 17, rather than the usual July 1st date, and has been busy every since. She keeps the information centre open five days per week, usually Tuesday through Sunday, but is willing and does make adjustments if special occasions come up, when she might feel information should be available to accommodate visitors from out of town, to some event in the area.

People particularly want information on the 'best fishing' spots. Marnie is delighted to help them, and happily has ac-

Committee ready to recommend Northern Lights next move

Elk Point will have to wait until Aug. 17 to find out when the permanent headquarters for the Northern Lights Library system will move to town.

A committee researching when and where the move should be made met last Thursday to decide what recommendations it would make to the Northern Lights Library Board.

Committee member Adele Mandryk said a recommendation had been formed but would not be made public until the Northern Lights Library Board agrees on a course of action - hopefully at its next meeting Aug. 17 in St. Paul.

Temporary headquarters for the library system are now in Vegreville. They were expected to stay there until a new building was constructed to house a permanent headquarters.

However, the possibility of moving to an existing site has raised the chances of a move to Elk Point happening sooner rather than later.

The Northern Lights Board originally chose Vegreville as the site for a permanent headquarters but later gave it to Elk Point when provincial funding was slow in coming.

So far the Elk Point headquarters has been promised start-up and operating funds but not the capital to build a new structure, according to Board chairman Jamshed Merchant.

Tourist Information Her Specialty

Marnie McCowan has a large inventory of information at her fingertips, and enjoys sharing it with those who would like tips on enjoying their holidays.

Truck drowns in Kehewin Lake

"They looked rather embarrassed," said Laurel Korytniak as she recounted the story of a drowned truck and its unlucky owners.

According to Korytniak, the accident took place at Kehewin Lake on Saturday, July 27.

A man came by her campsite looking for help to get his truck out of the lake. It wasn't until later, when she saw the man standing in water up to his arms, that she realize how much help he really needed.

"I saw him standing there and I thought, boy the lake is really shallow there. Then I realized the man was standing on the roof of the cab."

The truck's descent into the depths was, apparently, the last motion in a chain reaction triggered when two men (visitors from Camrose) loaded their boat onto a trailer after a day's fishing.

Korytniak guesses a trailer wheel probably fell over the edge of the boatramp - whatever, the trailer hitch was jarred clean away from the Datsun truck allowing boat and trailer to slide into the lake.

The boat floated, the trailer didn't.

If that wasn't enough, the truck itself then took a mind to go for a swim. It rolled lake-wards until it too was in the water and kept going until it was gone from sight.

"It ended up in the water sunk right to the bottom. It was completely submerged," said Korytniak.

It should be said that the two men were not exactly owners of said truck. They borrowed it specially for the fishing trip.

Korytniak said the rescue took about two and a half hours during which time the boatlaunch - much in demand that afternoon - was at a standstill.

A Jimmy 4 X 4 and a Crew Cab struggled with the drowned Datsun until divers discovered there was a large rock which had somehow come to rest on top of the truck's bumper anchoring it to the lake bottom.

Once that was disposed of, truck, trailer and boat were rescued. There was no apparent damage to the truck although it wouldn't start and had to be towed to Elk Point for a chance to dry out.

Korytniak said that if there's a lesson to be learned here it's that you should remember to put blocks behind your truck wheels when pulling a boat onto its trailer.

And what the heck, why not put the emergency break on too.

Violet Smith, 81st birthday

Irene Magnusson

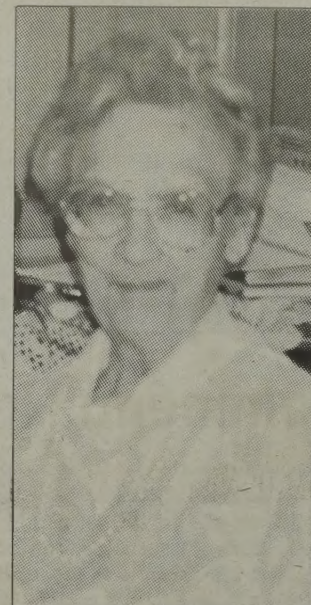

On Saturday, July 27, Violet Smith, with family and friends, marked her 81st Birthday with an "open house" get together in the afternoon. Mrs. Smith has been a resident of Elk Point for sixteen years. She was born at Gasport, New York, U. S. A., and came to Canada with her family in 1925, settling near Holden.

Violet married Wesley Smith, and they farmed near Holden and at Bruce, where their five sons and one daughter were born. In 1975 they moved to Elk Point, where Wesley passed away in 1976.

Violet loves gardening, and her home is surrounded with beautiful flowers, as well as many flowering plants indoors, showing her loving care. Other hobbies are quilting, crocheting and knitting, and her home shows her attention to these crafts.

With 29 grandchildren and 33 great grandchildren, it would seem the house would be full, but most live some distance away. The nearest family is that of son Lewellyn (Allen) and his wife Lucille, who, with her mother Hazel Hannah, saw to it that a lovely lunch was ready and waiting when other family members and friends dropped in to wish this cheerful, friendly lady many happy returns of this birthday celebration.

cess to information passed along by the Park Ranger at Whitney Lake Provincial Park. Right now, she is told, the best fishing in the Lakeland is in our own backyard, at Kehewin Lake. Second choice goes to Franchere Bay Park, on Moose Lake. How is that for concise information?!

To date, (as of July 25) Marnie has had 1128 visitors sign the guest book provided: these visitors, as well as some from in town and close area, are from all across Canada, every province; from Hong Kong, Germany, Ireland, Holland, Switzerland, West Germany, Texas, Utah and other States in the U.S. While I was there speaking with Marnie, a group came in for literature and information. They were from Norway, cousins of retired farmer Martin Aarbo, come from overseas to help him celebrate his recent 80th birthday. They left with smiles when I was able to remember my one word of Scandinavian, learned from my Swedish mother-in-law. I hope it meant "Thank you very much!"

Information requested by visitors range from times and whereabouts of coming events, fishing information, where are the best campsites, directions to the Fort George Museum, the Mural Park, golf course, Fort George and Buckingham House historic sites. They ask for hotels, motels, campsites, pumping-out stations. (Marnie has been told that Elk Point has the best 'dumping' facilities for RVs, with good access!). Visitors ask about the retirement facilities, such as hospital, lodge, seniors' apartments. And they ask for MAPS! And all the various brochures and printed materials the Information Booth keeps on hand.

Visitors are directed to both Markstad Park and the Mural Park, to the swimming pool in St. Paul, and the golf course and Anderson Driving Range. I'm sure many questions regard the surrounding oilfields in this part of Alberta. Restaurants and cafes are often sought, and Marnie is pleased to have all this information at her fingertips.

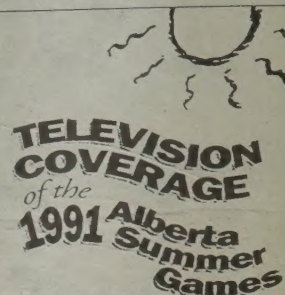

Marnie, in fact, just loves meeting people, and happily works on her correspondence course between visitors. She finds that people on their holidays, travelling about, camping or looking for good facilities, are happy people, sooner to smile than to frown. She will take happy memories of this summer along with her when she enters the college of her choice in the coming fall. (Yes, she's studying social work!)

Marnie is grateful to the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce, who offered this opportunity for her to meet people this summer, and to be a part of a beautiful Alberta summer.

She would like to thank the Town Administrator, Ken Kendall, for his assistance, and the Town Maintenance crew who kept the grounds around the booth so neat, and particular thanks to Benner's Greenhouse, for the planters filled with flowers that decorate the front and side of the little building. She also appreciates the potted plants, a gift of beauty from Sherry Peleck. The handcrafts (a new addition) that now adorn the walls of the little centre where brought by Sharon and Carol and Verona Lee Flanders.

Marnie's appreciation goes to the C. of C., the province of Alberta, and to the Town of Elk Point. She asks people to "Keep smiling, and to be happy. People love our BIG little town!" And she loves being a 'front man' for it.

Gophers controlled by Gun Club

On July 20, the Elk Point & District Gun Club held their 3rd Annual Gopher Control Shoot. Eight teams competed and enjoyed a sunny, pleasant day.

First prize went to the team of Bob Harvey & Terry Mayor, with a score of 268. The prize consisted of a pair of Lakefield .22 rifles, donated by the Gun Club. Second prize, a pair of Buck hunting knives, also compliments of the Gun Club, went to Jon Morris and Darcy Berscht. Their score was 261. A score of 251 won third place for Mike Sommerville and Darrell May. Lloydminster Heavy Crude donated a pair of folding knives for this prize. Dale Lovell and Brian Bykewich scored 205 to take fourth place winning 2 bricks of Remington .22 ammunition. Prize donated by Captain's Quarters, Lloydminster, our only out-of-town sponsor who participates each year.

Following the shoot, the club supplied a BBQ lunch for all contestants and several guests. The Gun Club wishes to thank our sponsors and all our participants. A good time was enjoyed by all, and the club council looks forward to seeing everyone back again next year.

In Our View

On a summer's day

Irene Magnusson

It's hard to sit down on a summer's day, and think up something wise to say, when in truth you'd rather loaf in the sun, or rest till the day is truly done. Well, you and I know it doesn't work that way, to rest in the shade, not making hay, when the sky is blue on this summer's day, and all the clouds are gone away.

The peas are fattening on the vine, while along the fence the weeds entwine, and over there the berries ripen. While time, relentless, moves along, our summertime will soon be gone, and I have only this to say: It's a love time to spend in play.

So, words of wisdom, where are you? Vanished like the morning's dew, while I sit at my keys and wear a frown and no thoughts most bright come floating down.

I'm almost afraid to go to town, to pick up my mail causes me to grown for all that paper comes tumbling down; under it's avalanche someone could drown. It shrieks and begs in a dozen hues, and all of it wants my hard-won dues; soon to buy at all I may refuse, while my P.O. box they will so abuse. I like to think when I pitch it in, that it all goes into a recycle bin; but I have heard the 'color' won't fuse into new paper stuff that some can use. Perhaps it all goes to a trashy heap while more trees are lost as we continually reap, and the earth grows poorer day by day as the trees of our land are cut away.

Well, on such a day as this so fine, I refuse to sit here for long and whine, so will go out to that day so fine and find a piece of baling twine to tie the bushes that are falling away, to secure them safely again, to stay.

I'll rejoice that now, on this summer's day, my sister has come from so far away, to visit awhile, to rest and play, this makes it, for me, a lovely day. She's brought along her daughter dear, and not only she, but another's here; a tiny whirlwind of delight, wee Vanessa with her smile so bright. She can laugh and giggle and run like the wind, or raise her voice like a violin. Well, what to expect from one and a half? She can't yet read, but she sure can laugh.

Then, before the setting of the sun, two others dear will join the fun, as my brother from so far away and his wife Doreen (so they did say) are flying on a shiny plane, so we'll be together once again, to talk about the days gone by, and whether elephants can fly. This part of summer I love best when we get together with the rest of SOME of our great family, scattered now from sea to sea.

I've cooked a bit and baked some too, and now find nothing left to do; I've made the beds and dusted a bit, combed my hair and worried a white lest nothing should turn out as pre-planned. Now I've decided that "worry" is banned.

I must centre on some distant things; perhaps the time will then take wings, before I know it they'll be here, and am I ready? dear, oh, dear!

I peeked from my window and think I see the birdies that hatched out in my tree, are almost grown, with gaping maws that yawn to be filled with whatever mom brings, of seeds and fruits and crawly things. Cedar waxwings is what they're named; at eating the berries they are often blamed. Still, I'm so lazy I'd like them to stay and carry some of my 'pick' away...

Another thought that comes to mind is the coming Fair; what will I find to place upon a paper plate and take to show off. It's rather late to start in making little things; I cannot knit and I cannot sew, and I never could make houseplants

Alberta Trails

By Irene Magnusson

It's show time!

Now is the time to bring out your talents, and take your place in the spotlight, as the Elk Point and District Agricultural Society presents their annual Fair this weekend.

Fairs are a long standing tradition in Elk Point, as is evidenced in Steve Andrishak's column at the right of this page. While we no longer include some of the features of early years, such as livestock competitions and gymkhanas, we still have one of the best bench shows in north-east Alberta.

The quality of entries almost invariably brings remarks from the judges who come to our community to decide on the winners. We have beautiful baking, prime produce, fantastic flowers and creative crafts, not to mention the excellence of the exhibits in sewing, knitting and crocheting, photography and field crops. Both our seniors and our youngsters add their talents to round out the show with tables and walls filled with their work.

Another admirable point about our fair is that both entering and viewing are within a very modest price range. If you exhibit, anywhere from one item to a whole truckload, you pay only one dollar, total, in entry fee, and get a complimentary ticket to come and view the fair. If you don't exhibit, you can still get in for $1, or for 50 cents if you are a child, free for youngsters under 6 accompanied by an adult. At these prices, you can't afford to miss it!

Categories for entries are many and varied. If you haven't picked up your fair book yet, hurry down to the Review and ask for one. Tags to put on your entries are also available there. Please tag your entries and list them on the entry form on the back of the fair book before you bring them to the hall on Friday, to speed up the process and eliminate 'traffic jams.'

See you at the Fair!

Please write

One section of the Elk Point Fair which is sometimes a bit short on entries is the Creative Writing section, sponsored by the Review. If you like to put your thoughts down on paper, we may have a category for you. Check out the fair book, and bring those poems and prose down to the Elks Hall on Friday. We'll be waiting to hear from you!

Our Past

Steve Andrishak

Elk Point held it's first Agricultural Fair on Wednesday, September 25, 1912. It was arranged by the Elk Point Central Agricultural Society. The officials were: J.C. Lambright, President; J.G. Arthur, First Vice President; and F.E. Clydesdale, 2nd Vice President. The directors were: Ray Howard, Joe Mabley, R. Caskey, Court Smith, Charles Magnusson, W.F. Wolfe, G.H. Lindsay, Tom Aarbo, B. Gilbert and J.A. Lambright. H.J. Ramsbottom was secretary, C. Magnusson was the treasurer and William McCormick and O.J. Fish were the auditors. Judging by the many rules and regulations of this fair, listed in the fair booklet of 1912, it shows a lot of hard work and planning had gone into staging this fair. There were many fair entries listed such as cattle, horses, swine, sheep, poultry, dairy products, vegetables, home cooking, as well as many other entries too numerous to mention. The prize money ranged from $.50 to $2.00 for the smaller entries to $10.00 for the major stock exhibits.

Information taken from another fair booklet shows the 1918 Fair was the 7th annual fair and was held on Friday and Saturday, September 6th and 7th. It had expanded to a two day fair which features many sporting events. In 1918 the President of this fair was Wm. Curry, F.E. Van Arnham was the First Vice President and O.J. Fish was Second Vice President. The number of directors had increased to 15. Some of the better known names were: J.C.

Lambright, Charles Hood, Dal. Beebe, J.H. Babcock, Mrs. Frances Caskey, A. Witworth, E.L. Smith and Tom Aarbo.

These early fairs were sponsored by the many businessmen of Elk Point, some of which were C.A. Johnson, F.E. Van Arnham, Jim Babcock, Charles Hood and the Johnson Bros. (Selmer and Martin).

The paid up members of the Elk Point Agricultural Society were in charge of staging this fair.

During the Pioneer days the town of Vermilion was the hub of north eastern Alberta. The merchants of Vermilion drew a lot of trade from the Elk Point district and whenever Elk Point held a fair it was strongly supported by the many businessmen of Vermilion, either by sponsoring ads in the fair booklets or by making donations of cash or merchandise. Some of the Vermilion places of business that took out ads were: Superior Lumber, C.W. Robinson, Joe McCone, Fred C. Long, Stephen's Bros. and the Royal Bank. Others who donated cash or merchandise were Craig Bros., C.H. Pilkie, Brimacombe Bros., M. Wener, Brunswick Hotel, J.W.G. Morrison, Leroy H. West, C.F. Stone Ltd., Nellis and Law, and J. Wiebe and son. The early agricultural fairs needed such strong support, Elk Point was a small hamlet and in no way could it stage a fair of such magnitude by itself.

The Elk Point Agricultural fairs were held annually from 1912 to 1918 and perhaps longer. I have information only to the 1918 fair, however it is quite likely they continued into the 1920's and even into grow. My baking is the worst around. Just to think of it makes my head pound. My photos this year are of blurred, and a canning I did got sort of 'furred'. I'll check my garden, late next week, to see if anything has 'peaked'. Perhaps some beans, red, gold or green, will have grown so well they'll need to be seen, or a handful of carrots, long and bright will give up their lives to be judged that night.

I support the Fair, I'll have you know, but I really haven't much to show! So all you folks who do so well, be sure to bring to show and tell. It'll be a great Fair, and we'll all be there, and I'll root for you to win! O.K.?

Enough of this; it's getting late, and my peas are still unpicked. If I have to peel the spuds too fast, my fingers may be nicked. And supper's one thing we all like, so I'd best prepare some right away, if I expect my guests to stay.

P.S. I found out what the phantom in my garden is: a pocket gopher! He came back again, left some mounds as evidence, a dead give away. So I trapped him.

Early agriculture fairs in Elk Point the 1930's. The 1918 fair advertised many sporting events such as ball games, potato race on horseback, three legged race, boy's pie race, and a tug of war - Elk Point against the world. An interesting special event in the 1912 booklet reads: Mr. Craig of Vermilion will give a handsome prize to the lady who harnesses her own horse to a buggy, drives one half a mile and shows the best horsemanship, a gentleman to accompany each lady. Another special event of this fair reads: Mr. Slater will give $5.00 in merchandise for the best 10 gallon crock of butter, the butter to become the property of the donor. Another special event reads: Wiebe and Sons, millers of flour, Vermilion, will give two sacks of Acme flour for the best two loaves of bread made from Acme Flour; and still another event reads: Ed. J. Kibblewhite, druggist, will give a lady's silver mounted manicure set to the lady who sends in the best essay on the "Bright Side of Homestead Life".

The admission price to these early fairs were $.25 for adults with no charge for children or paid up members of the Elk Point Agricultural Society.

Elk Point held it's first Agricultural Fair 79 years ago, it was well planned, well organized and was in every way a professional event. Everyone in our small hamlet and the people living in the surrounding district looked forward to these annual fairs. They were always well attended. The fair committees did an outstanding job in staging these early fairs.

What's news at the library?

On July 26th, the preschoolers went on yet another journey. Because the planet was Prehistoria, the kids squished their toes in sand to make sand-casted footprints, similar to fossils we see of dinosaur footprints. The storytime was dedicated to tales about dinosaurs and the kids were energetic in singing and acting out the song "Tony Chestnut". This was followed by a game of "Simon Says" and "The Farmer in the Dell".

The topic for last Tuesday's discussion was "Space Stations". The elementary kids broke up into groups to design floorplans of their space stations.

Afterwards it was playdough time, and the kids used the various colors to create space scenes.

On Thursday, a dozen kids came for the puppet workshop. They practiced Punch and Judy skits which will be presented to the preschoolers on Friday, August 9th. The puppets they made this time were finger puppets. Everyone loved painting their fingers and hand to form various characters.

New Books:

"Royal Love Stories" by Margaret Nicholas - This is a collection of the greatest Royal Love stories; from the most famous story of this decade, when Prince Charles, the world's most eligible bachelor, married Lady Diana Spencer, to the tragic tale of Wallis Simpson whose affair with Edward VIII changed the course of a nation.

The Everyday Guide to Canadian Family Law by Michael G. Cochran - This book is designed for anyone who wants to know more about Canadian family law.

A Parent's Guide to Sexuality will help parents feel more comfortable talking to their teens about sex. Written by a trusted professional, Dr. Jay Gale, who has years of family counselling experience. This reassuring and useful guide may help you save your child's life.

In an age when we are told that in parenthood "you can have it all" and nothing short of perfection will do, "Quantity Time" by Roy MacGregor, is a beacon for the underachievers. This book is for those whose children would rather daydream than become piano virtuosos, or prefer building tree forts to playing little league baseball.

James A. Michener, one of the most celebrated writers of our time, has an extraordinary talent for finding the essence of a place. His books give readers an unmistakable "you are there" feeling, whether set in the South Seas, Alaska, Afghanistan or Poland. "Six Days in Havana" has the same immediacy, providing glimpses of a city that has been incognita to most North Americans for thirty years.
